

COVID-19 Response

KIDTHINK Response to prevent the spread of COVID-19

We understand that families may continue to be concerned about the spread of COVID-19 as well as the effects of the changes we have had to make to manage the spread. We at KIDTHINK are taking various precautionary measures and adjusting our operations to ensure the health and safety of our staff, clients, families and the community at large.

Please take note of the following that may affect your care at KIDTHINK:

- Staff continue to work remotely whenever possible. We are able to do so by leveraging the use of available technology that allow us to provide service to our clients and their families as well as attend meetings.
- We are now able to provide in-person services to children and their families, where video or phone sessions are not adequate to meet their needs.
 - Clients will be asked to sign a consent form and will be given specific safety instructions to attend appointments at our office.
 - Examples of safety instructions include maintaining 2-meter distance between non-family members, completion of the Manitoba Health Screening Tool before entering the office, asking clients to arrive only 5 minutes prior to their appointment, reorganization of the waiting area, use of hand sanitizer when entering the office and enhanced cleaning and sanitizing procedures by staff.
- Please do not hesitate to contact your clinician or our information line for more information (info@kidthink.ca or 431-388-5373) about these precautions or any other questions or concerns.

KIDTHINK is taking these precautionary measures in response to the recommendations made by the Province of Manitoba and the medical community in order to prevent the community spread of COVID-19.

We will continue to adjust and adapt as the situation evolves. We greatly value our relationships with you. We are confident that we will get through this together and wish everyone the best during this difficult time.

Please take care and be safe,

The KIDTHINK Team.
